

Software License Agreement

NCP Exclusive Entry Client

As of: October 2018

The terms of the License for use by you, the end user (referred to hereinafter as 'the Licensee') of NCP software are set out below. By reading and accepting this notice, you agree to these terms and conditions, so please read the text below carefully and completely. If you do not accept the terms of this agreement, you cannot use or install the software.

1. Subject of the Agreement

1.1 The subject of this agreement between you and NCP Software engineering GmbH (hereinafter "NCP", this agreement hereinafter also referred to as this "Agreement") is the NCP Exclusive Entry Client software supplied in file form (referred to hereinafter as the "Software"), including the program description and other related written materials (hereinafter the "Documentation").

1.2 The Software uses Open Source Software components which are listed in Appendix 1. Such components shall be governed exclusively by the applicable Open Source Software license terms listed in Appendix 1.

2. Scope of Rights of Use

2.1 NCP grants the Licensee a simple, non-exclusive, non-transferable, non-sublicenseable, right to install and use the Software on one single computer or mobile device (also referred to hereinafter as 'the License'). In case various operating systems are installed on the single computer or mobile device (virtual environments), a separate License is required for every installed virtual environment. Any additional use requires NCP's prior written consent.

The License is limited to the agreed contractual term (Term Licensing/Subscription).

2.2 The Licensee may not:

- (i) alter, translate, downgrade, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or otherwise modify the Software or attempt or allow a third party to do so, unless any such activity is permitted under applicable mandatory copy right laws (Section 69 e of the German Copyright Act);
- (ii) create derivative works of the Software or create copies of the Software beyond the limits permitted under mandatory copyright law, or reproduce the Documentation or other materials related to the Software.

2.3 The License grant is subject to the following dissolutive conditions, provided that in case either of the following cases occurs the License shall automatically terminate without need for notice:

- (i) if the Licensee breaches any of the terms set forth in Sections 2.1, 2.2 or 3. of this Agreement, or
- (ii) in case this Agreement is terminated or expires.

Next Generation Network Access Technology

Software License Agreement

NCP Exclusive Entry Client

As of: October 2018

2.4 Furthermore, the Parties may contractually agree in the purchase contract that the License shall automatically terminate in the event of Licensee's default in payment.

2.5 NCP reserves all rights in the Software which NCP does not explicitly grant to the Licensee under this Agreement. In particular, but without limitation to the following, NCP reserves all rights of publication, copying and reproduction (to the extent this Agreement does not explicitly provide otherwise and to the extent the Licensee does not have a right to copy the Software under applicable mandatory copyright law provisions), as well as to make modifications to the Software.

2.6 Upon termination of the License, the Licensee must de-install the Software and destroy the Software as well as any copies thereof, including any amended versions of the Software and the Documentation, and confirm the same in writing upon NCP's request.

2.7 NCP is authorized to control the Licensee's observance of the license terms set forth in Sections 2.1 and 2.2 of this Agreement by way of an audit to be carried out by an independent auditor not more than once a year during regular business hours and with reasonable prior notice, provided that the audit may not unreasonably interrupt the Licensee's business operations. At any time, confidentiality obligations of the Licensee towards third parties, the integrity of the Licensee's computer system and applicable data protection regulations shall be reasonably taken into account. For the purposes of the audit, NCP may request information from the Licensee on the observance of the license terms set forth in Sections 2.1 and 2.2. Should the information submitted by the Licensee not be appropriate or should NCP reasonably believe the information submitted is not comprehensive or incorrect, NCP may, either itself or via an independent auditor, who shall be subject to appropriate confidentiality obligations, inspect the computer systems of the Licensee on which the Software is installed and running with respect to and to the extent necessary to verify the observance of this Agreement. The Licensee shall grant NCP and/or the auditor reasonable access to its computer systems as required to conduct the audit. In the event that the audit reveals an excess of numerical license restrictions by 5% or more, or in case that the Licensee is otherwise in breach of the license restrictions under Sections 2.1. or 2.2, the Licensee shall bear the costs of the audit.

3. Copying

The Software and the Documentation are protected by copyright.

To the extent the Software is provided without a technical protection against copying, the Licensee may make a single spare copy for backup purposes only. That spare copy must be marked as the copyright of NCP or include a notice to that effect therein. Copyright notices already present in the Software and any registration numbers contained therein may not be removed. Other than to the extent expressly permitted by provisions of mandatory law, the Licensee is expressly prohibited from copying or otherwise reproducing the Software or Documentation in whole or in part, in their original or amended form or as combined with or integrated into other software programmes.

Next Generation Network Access Technology

Software License Agreement

NCP Exclusive Entry Client

As of: October 2018

The Licensee may not pass on or otherwise make available to any third party the license key provided by NCP for the installation of the Software ("License Key").

Furthermore, any partial or temporary transfer of the Software to a third party against remuneration, in particular by way of any rental or leasing arrangement is expressly prohibited, unless with the specific, express prior written consent of NCP.

4. Term of this Agreement

In relation to the term of this Agreement the following provisions shall apply:

- a) The rights of use granted to the Licensee under Section 2 as well as this Agreement as such shall be in force and effect for such term as agreed in the Licensee's order and fully paid for by the Licensee ("Term").
- b) Either party's statutory right to terminate this Agreement for important cause shall remain unaffected.
- c) Upon the end of the Term, the License shall automatically end unless renewed by the Licensee. Upon termination of the License, the Licensee is no longer entitled to use the Software. Renewing a License on time shall be within Licensee's own and sole responsibility.

5. Damages in the event of breach of contract

NCP advises you that you as the Licensee are liable for any damages caused to NCP based on breach of copyright as a result of you breaching this Agreement.

6. Liability for defects and third party right infringements

6.1 NCP's liability for defects of the Software, including defects in title (collectively "Defects") shall be governed by this Section, unless otherwise provided in Section 7 (Third Party Rights).

6.2 The Licensee understands and accepts that in accordance with the present state of the art it is impossible to develop computer programmes, in particular those which are combined with other programmes or systems, in a manner so that they work entirely free of errors. Under the current state of the art it is not possible to warrant that the Software will operate free of interruptions or deficiencies, nor to warrant the complete removal of any Defects in the Software. The contractually agreed characteristics of the Software (i.e. the measurement criteria for the suitability, operability and dedicated usability) are therefore exclusively determined and set forth in the NCP data sheet as related to and delivered along with the Software. Only substantial deviations from the respective NCP data sheet which result in a limitation of the functionalities described therein shall qualify as a Defect. Individual requirements of the Licensee shall only be deemed as part of the contractually agreed characteristics of the Software, in case and to the extent the Parties have defined such characteristics expressly in writing in a jointly developed solutions design document.

6.3 Any fault-independent liability of NCP for initial Defects shall be excluded.

6.4 The statutory rights of the Licensee to rebate the remuneration are in any event limited to a refund from NCP for such portion of the remuneration paid for the relevant License Key equalling the extent to which and the term during which the Software could not or not properly be used due to a Defect in accordance with the laws for unjust enrichment. Beyond this Section 6.5 shall apply.

6.5 Any liability of NCP for Defects under this provision requires that the Licensee has notified NCP of the Defect concerned without delay in writing. In case of such written notification of a Defect, NCP shall have the right to make two attempts to remedy the Defect following reasonable remedy periods in each case, and for that purpose and at NCP's discretion to either repair the Defect or deliver a replacement solution. To the extent reasonably acceptable for the Licensee, NCP shall further have the right to remedy the Defect by providing a work around or alternative solution. The Licensee shall provide NCP with all reasonable assistance in remedying the Defect, including, in particular, that Licensee shall send in the Software (as in usage at the time the Defect occurred) upon NCP's request and to provide computing capacity as well as to install corrections or replacement solutions as provided by NCP. In case NCP's efforts to remedy the Defect should fail after a second attempt within a reasonable period of time, the Licensee shall have the right to terminate the Agreement for cause upon prior written notice in case the Defect materially reduces the usability of the Software. Any eventual claims for damages by the Licensee shall remain unaffected, provided that NCP's liability in this respect shall be exclusively governed by Section 9 (Liability).

6.6 The Licensee agrees and acknowledges that NCP has successfully remedied a Defect within the meaning of Section 7.5 in the event that NCP either (i) brings out and makes available to the Licensee within two (2) months following the Licensee's notification of the Defect a new version of the Software, in which the Defect concerned is remedied, or (ii) in case NCP does not make available such a new version, if NCP remedies the Defect within three (3) months following the notification of the Defect by the Licensee or by providing a replacement or a work around solution.

6.7 Any claims for Defects are subject to a limitation period of 12 months from the beginning of the limitation period under statutory law. The foregoing shall not apply in the cases listed in Section 8.2. In these cases, the statutory provisions of statute of limitation shall apply without alteration.

6.8 The Parties agree that any guarantee shall require an express written agreement in which the guarantee must be explicitly identified as a "Guarantee".

6.9 To the extent any actual occurrence of problems is the result of third party software products or of the hardware used by the Licensee, rather than of the Software made available by NCP, the Licensee shall have no warranty claims against NCP with view to such problems. Correspondingly, the same shall apply to the extent the Licensee has used the Software in breach of the provisions of this Agreement or to the extent the Licensee or a third party acting on his behalf has made changes or modifications to the Software, or in the event of insubstantial deviations from the contractually agreed characteristics of the Software.

7. Third Party Rights

In the event a third party claims against the Licensee that the Licensee's use of the Software in accordance with this Agreement infringes such third party's copyrights or other intellectual property rights in the Software, the Licensee shall immediately inform NCP hereof. Subject to the limitations of liability set forth in Section 8 (Liability) NCP shall hold harmless and indemnify the Licensee for any finally and bindingly asserted third party claims based on defects in title. These claims shall be subject to the limitation period applying for Defects.

8. Liability

8.1 Subject to the provisions in Section 8.2, NCP's statutory liability for damages shall be limited as follows:

- (i) NCP shall be liable only up to the amount of damages as typically foreseeable at the time of entering into the contract in respect of damages caused by a slightly negligent breach of a material contractual obligation (i.e. a contractual duty the fulfilment of which is essential for the proper execution of the contract, the breach of which endangers the purpose of the contract and on the fulfilment of which the Licensee regularly relies);
- (ii) NCP shall not be liable for damages caused by a slightly negligent breach of a non-material contractual obligation.

8.2 The aforesaid limitation of liability shall not apply to any mandatory statutory liability (in particular to liability under the German Product Liability Act), liability for assuming a specific guarantee or liability for damages caused by wilful misconduct or gross negligence, or any kind of wilfully or negligently caused personal injuries.

8.3 Licensee shall take all reasonable measures to mitigate and/or to avoid damages, including, in particular, an obligation for Licensee to make back-up copies of data on a regular basis and to carry out security checks (in particular for the purpose of defending or detecting viruses and other disruptive programmes within Licensee's IT System).

8.4 Regardless of the legal grounds giving rise to liability, NCP shall not be liable for indirect and/or consequential damages, including, in particular, loss of profit and loss of interest, unless any such damage has been caused by NCP's wilful misconduct or gross negligence.

8.5 To the extent NCP's liability is limited or excluded, the same shall apply in respect of any personal liability of NCP's legal representatives, employees and vicarious agents.

9. Update and new versions of the Software (for Term Licensing/ Subscription)

Next Generation Network Access Technology

Software License Agreement

NCP Exclusive Entry Client

As of: October 2018

During the Term, NCP will provide the Licensee with updates or new versions of the Software in the scope of NCP's Software Update Service for repair, enhancements, error corrections or new features (collectively: "Software Updates"). Licensee shall keep and have its License Key(s) for the Software for any number of Licenses acquired by the Licensee available and ready to operate the Software Updates.

Installing the Software Updates provided by NCP shall be within Licensee's own and sole responsibility. This shall apply in particular in relation to Software Updates that correct errors or security risks. Except in the cases listed in Section 8.2, NCP shall not be liable for damages that would have been avoided had the Licensee installed Software Updates provided by NCP.

The timing and content of NCP's provision of Software Updates shall be subject to NCP's discretion. The Licensee is requested and shall be solely responsible to save and back up its configurations of the Software before installing any Software Update since these may not be available in the Software Update. The Licensee is solely responsible for implementing its configurations into the Software Update.

The provisions of this Agreement shall apply accordingly for Software Updates.

10. License fee

The fee for the License owed by Licensee is separately agreed.

Unless otherwise agreed, the license fee shall be invoiced on an annual basis.

11. Export/Import control regulations

The Software may be subject to certain export and/or import control laws and regulations of certain countries. In case any approval by any public authority or compliance with any other official requirements is required for the Licensee's acquisition, carriage, deployment or other contractually agreed use of the Software, the Licensee shall obtain any such approval and/or fulfil any such requirements at the Licensee's own expense and if necessary produce evidence to NCP on demand. The Licensee shall be solely responsible for compliance with any laws, regulations or other binding requirements that may apply to the Licensee's acquisition, carriage, deployment or other contractually agreed use of the Software.

12. Choice of Law and final clauses

12.1 This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of Germany with the exception of the United Nations Convention on the International Sale of Goods (CISG). The courts of Nuremberg, Germany, shall have exclusive jurisdiction for any disputes arising from or in connection with this Agreement. However, NCP may institute legal proceedings against the Licensee also in any other court having proper jurisdiction over the Licensee.

12.2 Any amendments or additions to this Agreement shall be made in writing.

12.3 Any deviating general terms and conditions, including those which may be contained for instance in an order or delivery confirmation of the Licensee, shall not apply if not agreed upon otherwise by the Parties in written form.

12.4 In case any provision of this Agreement is or will be held invalid or unenforceable or if this Agreement is incomplete, the remainder of this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect.

Version 3, 29 June 2007

Copyright (C) 2007 Free Software Foundation, Inc. <<http://fsf.org/>>

Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

This version of the GNU Lesser General Public License incorporates the terms and conditions of version 3 of the GNU General Public License, supplemented by the additional permissions listed below.

0. Additional Definitions.

As used herein, "this License" refers to version 3 of the GNU Lesser General Public License, and the "GNU GPL" refers to version 3 of the GNU General Public License.

"The Library" refers to a covered work governed by this License, other than an Application or a Combined Work as defined below.

An "Application" is any work that makes use of an interface provided by the Library, but which is not otherwise based on the Library. Defining a subclass of a class defined by the Library is deemed a mode of using an interface provided by the Library.

A "Combined Work" is a work produced by combining or linking an Application with the Library. The particular version of the Library with which the Combined Work was made is also called the "Linked Version".

The "Minimal Corresponding Source" for a Combined Work means the Corresponding Source for the Combined Work, excluding any source code for portions of the Combined Work that, considered in isolation, are based on the Application, and not on the Linked Version.

The "Corresponding Application Code" for a Combined Work means the object code and/or source code for the Application, including any data and utility programs needed for reproducing the Combined Work from the Application, but excluding the System Libraries of the Combined Work.

1. Exception to Section 3 of the GNU GPL.

You may convey a covered work under sections 3 and 4 of this License without being bound by section 3 of the GNU GPL.

2. Conveying Modified Versions.

If you modify a copy of the Library, and, in your modifications, a facility refers to a function or data to be supplied by an Application that uses the facility (other than as an argument passed when the facility is invoked), then you may convey a copy of the modified version:

a) under this License, provided that you make a good faith effort to ensure that, in the event an Application does not supply the function or data, the facility still operates, and performs whatever part of its purpose remains meaningful, or

b) under the GNU GPL, with none of the additional permissions of this License applicable to that copy.

3. Object Code Incorporating Material from Library Header Files.

The object code form of an Application may incorporate material from a header file that is part of the Library. You may convey such object code under terms of your choice, provided that, if the incorporated material is not limited to numerical parameters, data structure layouts and accessors, or small macros, inline functions and templates (ten or fewer lines in length), you do both of the following:

a) Give prominent notice with each copy of the object code that the Library is used in it and that the Library and its use are covered by this License.

b) Accompany the object code with a copy of the GNU GPL and this license document.

4. Combined Works.

You may convey a Combined Work under terms of your choice that, taken together, effectively do not restrict modification of the portions of the Library contained in the Combined Work and reverse engineering for debugging such modifications, if you also do each of the following:

a) Give prominent notice with each copy of the Combined Work that the Library is used in it and that the Library and its use are covered by this License.

b) Accompany the Combined Work with a copy of the GNU GPL and this license document.

c) For a Combined Work that displays copyright notices during execution, include the copyright notice for the Library among these notices, as well as a reference directing the user to the copies of the GNU GPL and this license document.

d) Do one of the following:

0) Convey the Minimal Corresponding Source under the terms of this License, and the Corresponding Application Code in a form suitable for, and under terms that permit, the user to recombine or relink the Application with a modified version of the Linked Version to produce a modified Combined Work, in the manner specified by section 6 of the GNU GPL for conveying Corresponding Source.

1) Use a suitable shared library mechanism for linking with the Library. A suitable mechanism is one that (a) uses at run time a copy of the Library already present on the user's computer system, and (b) will operate properly with a modified version of the Library that is interface-compatible with the Linked Version.

e) Provide Installation Information, but only if you would otherwise be required to provide such information under section 6 of the GNU GPL, and only to the extent that such information is necessary to install and execute a modified version of the Combined Work produced by recombining or relinking the Application with a modified version of the Linked Version. (If you use option 4d0, the Installation Information must accompany the Minimal Corresponding Source and Corresponding Application Code. If you use option 4d1, you must provide the Installation Information in the manner specified by section 6 of the GNU GPL for conveying Corresponding Source.)

5. Combined Libraries.

You may place library facilities that are a work based on the Library side by side in a single library together with other library facilities that are not Applications and are not covered by this License, and convey such a combined library under terms of your choice, if you do both of the following:

a) Accompany the combined library with a copy of the same work based on the Library, uncombined with any other library facilities, conveyed under the terms of this License.

b) Give prominent notice with the combined library that part of it is a work based on the Library, and explaining where to find the accompanying uncombined form of the same work.

6. Revised Versions of the GNU Lesser General Public License.

The Free Software Foundation may publish revised and/or new versions of the GNU Lesser General Public License from time to time. Such new versions will be similar in spirit to the present version, but may differ in detail to address new problems or concerns.

Each version is given a distinguishing version number. If the Library as you received it specifies that a certain numbered version of the GNU Lesser General Public License "or any later version" applies to it, you have the option of following the terms and conditions either of that published version or of any later version published by the Free Software Foundation. If the Library as you received it does not specify a version number of the GNU Lesser General Public License, you may choose any version of the GNU Lesser General Public License ever published by the Free Software Foundation.

If the Library as you received it specifies that a proxy can decide whether future versions of the GNU Lesser General Public License shall apply, that proxy's public statement of acceptance of any version is permanent authorization for you to choose that version for the Library.
